| College of Behavioral and Social Sciences (BSOS), University of Maryland, Co-Director, Social Data Science Major <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Led the development of a new major in Social Data Science (officially launched Fall 2022), including working across departments to build an appropriate curriculum, managing the budget, and setting up infrastructure. Developed new courses to be part of Social Data Science, including SDSB233: Data Science for Social Sciences and SDSB326: Python Programming for Social Science. Launched a new undergraduate Data Curation Fellowship experience in which students identify, obtain, clean, and curate datasets to be used within social science courses, with a public-facing data resource webpage (https://bsos-data.umd.edu). Coordinated across colleges with the College of Information Co-Director to set up advising, teaching workload, and major requirements for students. | College Park, MD

Joint Program in Survey Methodology, University of Maryland, Lecturer

- Developed and implemented innovative teaching assignments and tools including: cloud-based programming workbooks using JupyterHub (multiple classes); a board game decision analysis project for an undergraduate class (INST 354: Decision Making for Information Science); a data disclosure-proofing project (SURV 622: Fundamentals of Data Collection); and a custom R package containing tutorials (SURV 613: Machine Learning for Social Science).
- Taught classes on introductory statistics, data science, machine learning, and programming for both undergraduate and graduate students, utilizing traditional and flipped classroom formats in online, in-person, and HyFlex modes.
- As part of an NSF grant, managed and oversaw the development and day-to-day operations of data analytics training courses for working professionals and graduate students at the National Center for Science and Engineering Statistics (NCSES) at the National Science Foundation (NSF).

The Coleridge Initiative, Consultant/Facilitator

- Provided guidance as a facilitator with the Applied Data Analytics program for teaching record linkage, text analysis, network analysis, and machine learning to working professionals in public policy.
- Consulted on a research projects using machine learning for imputation with large scale transaction-level purchasing data.
- Developed modularized lessons and notebooks for introductory statistics and programming in Python, R and SQL.

Sept 2020 – Jan 2022
1 year 5 months

UCLA Institute for Digital Research and Education, Statistical Consultant

- Assisted graduate students and professors in Psychology, Economics, Education, and other fields in cleaning, merging, and preparing data for analysis.
- Helped clients with their dissertations, publications, and other projects using methods such as mixed modeling, principal components analysis, simulation, and more using a variety of statistical software.

Los Angeles, CA
May 2014 – June 2016
2 years 2 months

UCLA Institute for Pure and Applied Mathematics, Academic Mentor

- Mentored a team of four undergraduate students with a research project for the Research in Industrial Projects for Students (RIPS) summer program in which an industry sponsor provides a real problem of interest.
- Provided a cooperative team environment for research by encouraging collaboration between students and advising students throughout the full research lifecycle.
